N.B.—The reason of so few discharges of bills of sale, &c., being registered is mainly owing to the difficulty of proving the certificate of satisfaction as required by the Act (No. 8 of 5th Vic.), viz., the acknowledgment by the mortgagee of his signature to the certificate of satisfaction or proof of execution by said mortgagee by one of two witnesses upon affidavit before the Registrar-General or his deputy. For this reason the greater portion are allowed to lapse.

* The great increase in the number is partly owing to the fact that Hire Agreements, Mortgages of Stock and Liens and Settlements are included.

* Loan raised by Colonisation Commissioners. † Aid from Imperial Government. ‡ Aid to Revenue by issue of Bond and Treasury Bills.
§ Immigration ceased in these years.

NOTE.—Prior to 1851, all remittances to the Land and Emigration Commissioners were carried to account by the Colonial Treasurer as sums expended on immigration, and the receipts in England by the Land and Emigration Commissioners were never included in the accounts of the Colony—an adjustment of accounts was, however, made in the year 1853.

* The areas here given, except in the case of New Zealand, are the results of planimetrical calculations made in the office of the Surveyor-General, Melbourne. Except in the case of Western Australia, the area of which differs from the official estimate by 84,000 square miles, these results agree closely with the figures furnished officially by the various colonies.

† In making up the estimates of population in Victoria and New South Wales, allowance has been made for unrecorded emigration since the census of 1881—the date of the last census. If this had not been done, the population of Victoria would have been set down as 1,033,043, and that of New South Wales as 1,030,901. Moreover, in the early part of 1886, censuses were taken in New Zealand and Queensland; the populations of those colonies have, therefore, been corrected on the basis of the results then obtained.

[1] On the 30th June, 1887, the estimated population of Victoria was 1,019,106, viz., 540,954 males and 478,152 females.

[2] On the 30th June, 1887, the estimated population of New South Wales was 1,022,767, viz., 562,913 males and 459,854 females. This is the first estimate since 1853 which has shown a larger population for New South Wales than for Victoria.

[3] On the 1st May, 1886, the enumerated population of Queensland, with an allowance of 2½ per cent. for persons supposed to have been overlooked in the collection, was 330,924, viz., 195,102 males and 135,822 females.

[4] On the 1st September, 1887, the estimated population of South Australia was 316,660.

[5] On the 28th March, 1886, the enumerated population of New Zealand, exclusive of Maoris, was 578,482, viz., 312,221 males and 266,261 females; the Maoris at the same time numbered 41,828, viz., 22,868 males and 18,960 females. On the 30th June, 1887, the estimated population of New Zealand was 595,613.

NOTE.—The Immigration and Emigration in this table is by sea only. No account is, or can be, taken of persons going from colony to colony overland.

[1] The figures in these columns understate the truth. Many persons leave all the colonies by sea without their departure being noted.

[2] In consequence of the Emigration returns being defective, as stated in the last footnote, the figures in these columns are too high. Where the minus sign (−) appears it indicates that the emigrants exceeded the immigrants by the number against which it is placed.

[3] According to Imperial returns, the number of persons who left the United Kingdom for the Australasian colonies in 1886 was 44,055, and the number who returned to the United Kingdom from these colonies was 9,366. The excess in favour of departures was thus 34,689, or little more than half the excess of immigrants over emigrants shown in the table.

NOTE.—The figures of revenue and expenditure for Victoria are for the twelve months ended 30th June, but those for the other colonies are for the calendar year. Refunds of revenue, drawbacks, and such similar entries, are rigidly excluded from the accounts of revenue and expenditure of Victoria, but are included in those of New South Wales and some of the other colonies. See also Notes 4 and 5.

[1] The amounts in this column are made up of Excise duties, including licences imposed for revenue purposes; duties on bank notes; stamps, other than those for fees of office; legacy, succession, and probate duties; property and income taxes; and any other impost, payable to the General Government, levied distinctly as a tax; but excluding fees, licences, and charges for special services rendered.

[2] According to a statement made up in the Treasury, but not audited, the figures for Victoria during the year ended 30th June, 1887, were as follow:—Revenue from Customs, £2,132,361; other taxes, £590,604 (partly estimated); from Crown lands, £587,100; from Railways, £2,453,345; from Post and Telegraphs, £428,917 (estimated); from other sources, £541,540—Total revenue, £6,733,867. The estimated mean population of the same period was 1,003,040; therefore the revenue per head was £6 14s. 3d.; and the taxation per head was £2 14s. 4d.

[3] The proportion of the revenue of Victoria and New Zealand derived from "Other Taxes" and "Post and Telegraphs" has been partly estimated.

[4] This amount includes £21,499 collected for traffic beyond Albury, but repayable to the Government of Victoria. Deducting this sum, which of course does not form part of the railway revenue of New South Wales, the net amount is reduced to £2,367,563, which includes £230,260 revenue from tramways.

[5] Including revenue returned to the extent of at least £224,000—viz., £12,872, being repayments to credit of votes; £57,479, for drawbacks and refunds of duty; £21,499, railway revenue collected for the Victorian Government; £133,300, being other revenue returned, &c.

[6] Exclusive of revenue from gold-fields.

[7] In calculating the amounts for Victoria the mean population during the year 1885-6 (971,145) has been taken. For the other colonies, the figures of mean population shown in the last column of Table I. have been used.

NOTE.—For periods to which the figures relate in each colony, see Note to last table. For remarks in reference to the practice of swelling the returns of some of the colonies by including refunds of revenue, &c., on both sides of the account, see Note to last table.

[1] According to a statement made up in the Treasury, in July, 1887, the approximate expenditure of Victoria for the year 1886-7 was as follows:—Railways, £1,364,400; Post and Telegraphs, £532,218; Interest on Public Debt, £1,272,591; Other Services, £3,496,654—Total Expenditure, £6,665,863, or £6 12s. 11d. per head of population.

[2] Including £97,707 for Tramways, but exclusive of £20,682 collected for the Victorian Government for traffic beyond Albury.

[3] See footnote (5) to last table.

[4] In calculating the amounts for Victoria, the mean population during the year 1885-6 (971,145) has been taken. For the other colonies the figures of mean population shown in the last column of Table I. have been used.

NOTE.—On the 30th June, 1887, the Public Debt of Victoria was £33,119,164. The estimated population at that date was 1,019,106, and the approximate revenue of the financial year ended with that date was £6,733,867. The amount of indebtedness per head was thus £32 10s., and the debt was equivalent to 4·92 years' revenue. During the first six months of 1887 Queensland floated a fresh loan in London for £2,500,000, and South Australia one for £850,000.

[1] Including other buildings.

[2] The figures for New Zealand represent the net expenditure out of the "Public Works Fund" since 1870, the date of the first Immigration and Public Works Loan; it is, moreover, stated that, besides loan moneys, receipts in aid from Stamp duties, &c., contributed somewhat towards the total sum so expended. The balance required to make up the total debt at the end of 1886 has been entered as "unapportioned."

[3] In New Zealand, a portion of the expenditure on "Defences" is included under the head of "Harbours," &c.

[4] Consisting chiefly of unexpended balances.

[5] As a set-off against the public debt, New Zealand possessed an accrued sinking fund amounting, on the 31st December, to £3,469,264; the net liability for that colony was, therefore, £34,118,512, or £57 17s. 9d. per head of population, and equal to 9·25 times the revenue. The sinking funds possessed by the other colonies were comparatively small, consisting of the following amounts:—Victoria, £52,038; Western Australia, £52,259; and Tasmania, £82,852.

[6] In calculating these results, the populations on the 31st December shown in the fifth column of Table I. have been used.

[7] In calculating these results, the figures of public revenue given in Table IV. have been used.

[8] Consisting of "Repayment of Loans," £1,335,230; and Public Works, Queensland (when it formed part of New South Wales), £49,856. The former amount should properly have been distributed under the purposes for which the original loan was raised.

[9] Consisting of General Public Works for Northern Territory.

[10] Debentures redeemed, amounting to £53,700, have been deducted from the amount returned for "Other Services," since the purposes were not specified for which the original loans thereby paid off were raised.

[11] Viz., Interest and Sinking Fund.

[12] Consisting of the old provincial loans of New Zealand, raised prior to the abolition of provinces in 1886, and the unspent balances of loan moneys. No particulars of the purposes to which the former were applied are available.

NOTE.—The figures are for the year ended 30th June, 1886, in Victoria; and for that ended 31st December in the other colonies. On the 30th June, 1887, the extent of lines opened in Victoria had increased to 1880 miles, and the cost of construction to £25,297,534; whilst the gross receipts for 1886-7 amounted to £2,453,078, the working expenses to £1,427,116, and the net receipts to £1,025,962. The latter was equivalent to 4·17 per cent. of the capital cost. In addition to the Victorian lines open, there were, on the 30th June, 1887, 337 miles in progress, and 675 miles authorized, but not commenced.

[1] These columns do not include tramways, of which there were in Victoria, at the end of 1886, 9 miles (cable) constructed by the Melbourne municipalities, but let to a private company; New South Wales, 35 miles, constructed by Government at a capital cost of £857,483, the gross receipts from which amounted in 1886 to £234,143, and the working expenses to £208,687; in Queensland, 664 miles; and in Western Australia, constructed by timber companies, 100 miles. The cost of construction of the cable tramways of Victoria (including expenditure on lines in progress), at the end of 1886, was £663,764, and the receipts during the year amounted to £74,340.

[2] The calculations in this column are based on the mean of the amounts of capital cost at the beginning and end of the year.

[3] Including railways authorized.

[4] Including expenditure on lines in progress.

[5] This is below the true proportion, as the capital cost, on which the rate is based, includes expenditure on lines in progress, which were necessarily unproductive.

[6] The minus (—) sign indicates a net loss, or excess of working expenses over receipts.

[7] Included with the Government lines in Tasmania are 133 miles guaranteed by the State, constructed at a cost of £872,332. The other private lines in that colony cost £153,133; whilst the receipts during the year amounted to £17,063, and the working expenses to £7,956.

[8] Of the Tasmanian lines, 45 miles have an additional rail, giving a 5 ft. 3 in. gauge as well for that portion.

In the other colonies a small postage fee is charged on newspapers.

[2] This probably includes commission on money orders in all the colonies.

[1] The purchase-money for selected land varies in the different colonies from 10s. to 30s. per acre, payable by annual instalments (often without interest) extending over a period of 10 or 20 years. For particulars of the terms and conditions under which such land is held, see Victorian Year-Book 1885-6, page 483.
[2] This represents the area leased, with option of purchase on certain conditions under the Land Act of 1884.
[3] Exclusive of surrendered lands re-selected under the Act of the 31st August, 1884.
[4] Of this area, 107,567 acres were granted to Natives, or Europeans who purchased from them, under Native Land Acts.
[5] Including only that of which the purchase has been completed.
[6] Exclusive of the extent estimated to have been forfeited for non-fulfilment of conditions, &c.
[7] The figures in this line have recently received a thorough revision, hence the apparent discrepancies in some cases when compared with the figures published last year.
[8] Including land granted without purchase.
[9] Included with the area "Sold."
[10] These figures relate partly to lands in respect to which Crown Grants have been issued either to the original Maori possessors, or to Europeans or Maoris who have purchased from them, under certain Native Land Acts.
[11] Of this extent, about 16,000,000 acres belong to the Maoris, or to Europeans who have purchased from them; and 93,868 acres was held under "Perpetual Lease."

NOTE.—The State system of education is compulsory and undenominational (or secular) in all the colonies, and Western Australia is now the only colony which grants assistance to denominational (private) schools. Public instruction is free in Victoria, Queensland, and New Zealand; but fees are charged in the other colonies, although they are partially or entirely remitted in cases where the parents are unable to pay them. The prescribed school age differs in the various colonies—in Victoria it is from 6 to 15 years, in New South Wales from 6 to 14, in Queensland from 6 to 12, in South Australia from 7 to 13, in Tasmania from 7 to 14, and in New Zealand from 7 to 13 years. For a complete account of the educational systems of the various colonies, see Victorian Year-Book 1880–81, pp. 431 to 459.

[1] Including 1,076 pupil-teachers, and 521 work-mistresses. In previous years, work-mistresses in Victorian schools were not included in this return.

[2] These figures have been estimated in the office of the Government Statist, Melbourne.

[3] Exclusive of expenditure towards capital cost of buildings, &c.

[4] For extra subjects only.

[5] Including £29,605 from Education Reserves.

TABLE XV.—AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS, 1886-7.—LAND IN CULTIVATION.

 The Agricultural Statistics in most of the colonies are collected in the months of February or March of each year. The present returns are for those months of 1887. In calculating the rates of tillage per head, the population at the 31st December, 1886, has been taken.

NOTE.—Land in fallow is included in the total area under tillage in all the colonies, except New South Wales; but land under permanent artificial grasses is not included in New South Wales, Queensland, Western Australia, and New Zealand. See also Notes 2, 3, and 11.

[1] Including beans and pease, except in the case of New South Wales.

[2] In addition to crops sown for the purpose of being cut green for cattle, this column contains the following areas laid down in permanent artificial grass in the colonies named:—Victoria, 276,291 acres; New South Wales, not returned; Queensland, not returned; South Australia, 23,217 acres; Western Australia, not returned; Tasmania, 196,333 acres. For extent of such land in New Zealand, see Note 11.

[3] In the returns of some of the colonies, this column embraces land in fallow as well as land under crop. The following are the areas in fallow included in the returns of such colonies:—Victoria, 277,788 acres; New South Wales, not returned; Queensland, 12,282 acres; South Australia, 450,536 acres; Western Australia, 1,845 acres; Tasmania, 21,678 acres; New Zealand, 163,241 acres.

[4] Including 910 acres under turnips, carrots, parsnips, cabbage, and beet, which produced 7,158 tons; 1,257 acres under mangel wurzel, which produced 19,142 tons; 1,996 acres under onions, which produced 11,625 tons; 2,031 acres under tobacco, which produced 12,008 cwt.; 204 acres under chicory, which produced 1,472 tons; 730 acres under hops, which produced 5,023 cwt.; 2,942 acres under grass seeds, which produced about 61,490 bushels; &c.

[5] Including 1,203 acres under tobacco, which produced 13,642 cwt.; 15,117 acres (of which 9,202 acres were unproductive) under sugar-cane which produced 167,959 cwt. of sugar; 7,920 acres under oranges, which produced 6,376,868 dozen; and 18,605 acres under gardens and orchards.

[6] Rice.

[7] Including 54,010 acres under sugar-cane, of which 34,657 acres were productive, and yielded 58,545 tons of sugar; 255 acres under arrowroot, which produced 463,900 lbs.; 751 acres under oranges, which produced 451,777 dozen; 1,497 acres under bananas, which produced 3,180,375 dozen; 411 acres under pineapples, which produced 165,453 dozen; 90 acres under tobacco, which produced 636 cwt.

[8] No Agricultural Statistics having been collected in South Australia in either of the last two years, the figures for 1884-5 have been again repeated for that colony.

[9] Including 4,203 acres under turnips, which produced 38,357 tons; 829 acres under mangel wurzel, which yielded 12,167 tons; and 8,735 acres in gardens and orchards. The remainder consisted of fenced and cleared land, not strictly under tillage, and devoted to pastoral purposes.

[10] No account taken.

[11] In the figures for New Zealand, the land under permanent artificial grass, amounting to 5,495,843 acres—of which about one-half had been, and the other half had not been, previously ploughed—is not entered as green forage, nor is it included in the total area under tillage, as in the other colonies. Were the whole so placed, it would bring the land under tillage up to 6,868,062 acres, or to 11·65 acres per head of the population.

[12] Including 4,348 acres under mangolds, beet, carrots, parsnips, &c.; 528 acres under hops; 10 acres under tobacco; and 22,885 acres under gardens and orchards.

[1] No statistics of live stock having been collected in South Australia for either of the last two years, the figures for 1884-5 are given for that colony.

[2] The figures for New Zealand are those returned at the Census of March 1886. They include 42,103 cattle, 112,850 sheep, and 92,091 pigs belonging to the Maoris.

NOTE.—The figures for Victoria, New South Wales, and Queensland express the quantity and value of all the gold known to have been raised in those colonies since the period of its first discovery in Australia in 1851; those for South Australia are estimated partly from the returns of the Melbourne and Sydney Mints, and partly from the export returns; those for New Zealand express the total exports of gold from the earliest period; and those for Tasmania express the quantity known to have been raised since 1866, there being no record of the gold raised prior to that period. There are no returns of the gold raised in Western Australia, although it is believed a considerable quantity was obtained on the Kimberley gold-fields of that colony during, and some prior to, 1886.

[1] In Victoria the average value of the gold raised is £4 per oz., and in Queensland £3 10s. per oz. The purity, and consequently the value, varies considerably in different districts. Standard gold is worth £3 17s. 10½d., and pure gold £4 4s. 11½d. per oz.

[2] Including Northern Territory, whence the quantity exported in 1886 was 17,490 oz., valued at £63,139.

APPENDIX.

[1] It is believed by the Registrar-General of Fiji that the births, deaths, and marriages here given are less than those which actually occurred.

[2] The total area alienated at the end of 1886 was 391,118 acres. The amount realized by the State to the end of 1885 was only £26,259, which, however, represents the price of but a small proportion of the acreage alienated. The majority of the grants issued were for lands acquired by whites and others previously to annexation, and these received their titles at the nominal price of One shilling.

[3] In addition to the live stock referred to in these columns, about 11,400 angora goats were kept on the islands.
